Giving opportunities with prominent recognition are available throughout the library

The library is the cornerstone of civic pride and essential to a healthy, vibrant community. More than just books and computers, libraries are an investment in our community's future generations of thinkers, doers, and leaders.

The new Spokane Valley Library at the corner of Sprague Avenue and Herald Road is the next pillar in an emerging civic center and multi-generational community gathering space. The single story, $15-million project has an open, multiple-use floor plan, created to meet current and future needs, along with efficient building systems and layout.

The 28,000-square foot library will feature contemporary technology, a large community room with space to accommodate up to 200 people, a fully equipped audio-visual studio for public use, several smaller conference rooms, and a vibrant, spacious children's area.

Spokane Valley Library is the anchor to a future library-park campus. The City of Spokane Valley plans the expansion of nearby Balfour Park with coordinated landscaping to create a seamless library-park experience.

Private sector donations toward a $1 million goal will enhance construction amenities and finishes. All contributions are valued, no matter the size. Private funding offers giving opportunities with prominent recognition while creating an impactful legacy that benefits the people we care about in the place we care about—Spokane Valley.

Naming rights and sponsorship opportunities are available for the conference rooms, plaza, children's area, learning trail, technology commons, teen and adult sections, and conference gardens. The donor levels for these naming rights begin at $10,000. Please contact the Library Foundation of Spokane County for more information.

For a contribution of $500, a personalized paver will be added to the Plaza and permanently on display at the Spokane Valley Library. Contributions may be made by one person, a family, or an organization. You can commemorate a special event in someone's life, honor a friend or family member, or memorialize someone special.

Giving opportunities include library resources as well as building amenities.

Donor recognition begins at $500 for an engraved 12-inch x 12-inch plaza paver.

The Plaza and its various elements allow for multiple levels of recognition opportunities
